BRITAIN WILL KEEP NEUTRAL ON CHINESE WAR

SENATORS BORAH AND WALSH FAVOR POLICY OF ADMINISTRATION

Democrat Says Situation Menaces World Peace—Favors Neutrality

London, June 17.—If civil war breaks out in China, Great Britain will remain neutral, the foreign office announced today.

Great Britain has sufficient warships in Chinese ports to protect her interests, it was said, but will not interfere in domestic warfare.

London, June 17.—Cantonese troops who routed the Tunesian from control of the city have restored order, disarmed 14,000 mercenaries and quieted anti-foreign demonstrations, according to claims they advanced in today's dispatches from Canton.

The new administration is decidedly communistic. It has decided, the dispatches added, to abolish the present civil governorship in favor of a commission of seven, which General Feng will support.

Washington, June 17.—From two important congressional sources the administration today received approval of its policy of keeping out of the present Chinese trouble so far as is possible, while extending adequate protection to American lives and interests.

Senator William F. Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee, declared that the situation in China was serious, but not by any act of the United States—and that he could see "no reason why the United States should be drawn into any controversy or conflict with Chinese authorities of the Chinese people."

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat of Montana, described the series of outbreaks in China as a "menace to world peace" and said that the United States should go slow in the Orient.

"I fear some country will go in with her troops and occupy a portion of China in retaliation for the murder of her nationals," said Walsh. "That would excite the jealousy of other nations who in an effort to keep peace, might easily provoke a new world war. It is a situation fraught with great danger to world peace and I feel another world war might grow out of the unfortunate chaos in China."

Walsh based his apprehension not only on current reports from riot-torn sections of China but on his personal observations made two years ago on a visit in China when he predicted the present uprising against foreigners.

Walsh deprecated proposals for the creation of an "international concert" by which the government of China had been administered by outside powers. Such a movement, he warned, would never be accepted by China because it would deprive them of national liberty.

"I confess I can see no very satisfactory solution of the perplexing problem," Walsh concluded, "in view of the apparent inability of Chinese to maintain a national government worthy of the name or even provincial governments that can offer reasonable safety to foreigners temporarily in their borders."

STATE SENATOR WINS NOMINATION FOR JERSEY GOVERNOR

Democrats Nominate Without Opposition—Wet and Dry Issues In Campaign

Trenton, N. J., June 17.—New Jersey Republicans have nominated State Senator Arthur Whitney of Mendham for the governorship. It was disclosed today in fairly complete returns from yesterday's statewide primary.

The Democratic nomination went to City Commissioner A. Harry Moore of Jersey City, without opposition.

Estimates based upon returns this morning indicated Whitney's plurality over his two opponents, ex-attorney General Thomas E. McCran of Paterson, and ex-Judge Cornelius Doremus of Ridgewood, would come close to 40,000. The voting generally was light.

McCran was second and Doremus a poor third.

The wet and dry issue and religious differences entered the Republican contest to a considerable degree. McCran is a Catholic and a fervent anti-prohibitionist. He polled a large vote in the cities and industrial sections, but Doremus, a pronounced dry, was snowed under.

The defeat of McCran marks a defeat also for Senator Walter E. Edge, the Republican leader of New Jersey, who had sponsored and promoted his candidacy.

John Coolidge, son of the President, was a guest during his vacation from Amherst College at the home of Governor Trumbull, to Connecticut, at Plainfield, where Miss Florence Trumbull acted as his hostess. Her parents denied reports that anything more than friendship linked the pair.

FRED C. KELLY SCORES EVOLUTION TRIAL IN ALUMNI ADDRESS; 145 ATTEND DINNER

"Bobbed-Hair Greatest Invention of Age" Says Kelly of 1900 Class—New Class Received With Enjoyable Program, Dinner and Dance

One hundred and forty-five members of the alumni association of Central High School and 1925 graduating class attended one of the most elaborate annual receptions in a number of years held at the high school building Tuesday evening.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat of Montana, described the series of outbreaks in China as a "menace to world peace" and said that the United States should go slow in the Orient.

"I fear some country will go in with her troops and occupy a portion of China in retaliation for the murder of her nationals," said Walsh. "That would excite the jealousy of other nations who in an effort to keep peace, might easily provoke a new world war. ### TEXAS WOMAN WILL ADDRESS GRADUATES

Cleveland, June 17.—Mrs. Percy V. Pennybaker, of Austin, Texas, former president of the general Federation of Women's Clubs will deliver the commencement address to graduates of the college for women, Western Reserve University, this afternoon.

Tomorrow the University commencement will be held.

Plans for making the university more responsive to the needs of the community were announced today. These include the acquisition of a downtown site which will be used as a college of business administration during the day and as an arts college at night.

CONSIDER TWO SITES FOR STATE BUILDING

Columbus, O., June 17.—Decision is expected today by the state building commission and the legislative advisory committee on the site for the new $4,000,000 state office building. Two main sites are under consideration. One one at Third and State Streets, opposite the state house annex and the other in the new Columbus civic center at Front and State Streets, facing the Scioto River.

GENERAL BUNDY NOW RETIRED FROM ARMY AFTER LONG CAREER

Commander at Ft. Hayes Is Succeeded Today—Had Bright Record

Washington, June 17.—Major-General Omar Bundy, Commanding Officer of the Fifth Corps Area at Fort Hayes, Columbus Ohio retires today at the age of sixty-four after serving forty-two years in the American Army. He is succeeded at Fort Hayes by Major-General R. L. Howze, whose appointment to that command was announced by the War Department several months ago.

General Bundy's retirement created a vacancy in the list of Major-Generals, which was filled by President Coolidge, upon the recommendation of Acting-Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis, by the promotion of Brigadier-General Joseph E. Kuhn. General Kuhn will assume his rank beginning tomorrow.

Born in Indiana in 1861, General Bundy entered the Military Academy at West Point from that state in 1879, graduating four years later. He is also a graduate of the Infantry and Cavalry schools and of the special course for field officers of the Army Service schools.

PICKED BY PERSHING

During the World War General Bundy, then a Major-General, commanded the famous Second Division at Chateau-Thierry, when the last great offensive of the Germans was stopped. Immediately following that defensive General Bundy was placed in command of the Sixth Army Corps and charged with the responsibility of supervising the final training of divisions preparatory to their being ordered to the front. When the needs of war demanded that general officers supervise the training of divisions in the United States General Bundy was among the first such officers selected by General John J. Pershing for that important duty.

In the Spanish-American War General Bundy became a brevet Major for gallantry in the campaign resulting in the surrender of the Spanish forces at Santiago. In the Philippine Insurrection he participated in numerous campaigns and was cited in general orders for his skill and gallantry in handling his command during the assault on hostile Moros at Mount Dago, Island of Jolo, on March 6-8, 1906.

General Bundy also took part in the fighting against the Crow Indians near Fort Custer, Montana, in 1887, and in the campaign against the Sioux Indians in South Dakota during the Winter of 1890-1891.

In addition to his duty with troops, General Bundy has also served in the Adjutant-General's and the Inspector-General's departments in Washington.

General Bundy was decorated by the French Government for his services in France with the Croix de Guerre and the Legion of Honor with palms.

CARMEN INCREASED

Elyria, June 17.—Motormen and conductors of both divisions of the Cleveland, Columbus and Southwestern Electric Company have been granted an increase of three cents an hour in wages, making a maximum of fifty-seven cents an hour for employees after the second year.

FEW OWN HOMES

Chicago, June 17.—Eleven million families in the United States in a total of 24,350,000 own their own homes, according to B. G. Dahlberg, lumber manufacturer. "This is only 45.6 per cent," said Dahlberg. "There would seem no sound reason why the percentage of home-owning families should not be much greater in view of the fact that our total national wealth is now $20,000,000,000, or close to $3,000 per capita for the entire population."

"Americans are becoming a race of renters and flat dwellers," Dahlberg declared.

GOLD MONEY LOOKED GOOD TO FRED KELLY YEARS AGO

Fred C. Kelly, magazine writer and former Xenian, who addressed the Central High School Alumni Association at its annual meeting Tuesday evening, draws frequently on boyhood experiences in Xenia for illustrations and anecdotes contained in his magazine articles.

Nation's Business, a magazine devoted to business interests, recently contained an article by Kelly in which the following experience of the writer, supposed to have happened in Xenia, is recounted:

"When I was a small lad out in my native Ohio county seat, I had a nice little $15 camera. After a time I tired of it and thought of placing it on the market. I confided to a boy friend, son of a banker up the street, that I would take $10 for the camera. This boy was all excited over the chance to get a $15 camera for $10 and went home in great haste to confer with his father. He returned crestfallen, saying that his father would not be willing to pay more than $5."

"Indignantly rejected that offer and tried elsewhere to sell for $10. But I was not successful. All my friends thought $10 was little enough for such a fine camera, but the trouble was that none had so much money. Then one

INDIANA'S WAR MEMORIAL DEDICATED AND TURNED OVER TO LEGIONNAIRES AT SERVICE

Office Building and National Headquarters Accepted By Commander Drain—New Structure Apointed Luxuriously

Indianapolis, Ind., June 17.—Following a brief but impressive ceremony, the first unit of Indiana's $10,000,000 World War Memorial was dedicated and formally turned over to the American Legion today to be used as an office building and national headquarters.

Nationally known persons participated in the exercises. Governor Ed Jackson and James A. Drain, national commander of the Legion, delivered the principal addresses.

Those glimpsing the initial unit for the first time were lavish in their praise of its architectural beauty, unanimously acclaiming it the most interestingly equipped structure of its kind in the country.

Arranged in the form of a Senate chamber, with a raised rostrum for the national commander's chair, the national executive committee chamber is the feature room of the building. Desks and chairs of committee men bear the seals of their respective State, Territory and foreign country represented. Draperies of blue velvet and carpeting to match blend harmoniously with the general color scheme.

In the spacious reception room of the executive suite there will be placed cases containing rare trophies and souvenirs of the World War and they will be available for public inspection at all times.

The original of "America" symbolic painting by Reni-Mel, official artist of the French Ministry of War, which was designed as an expression of America's timely aid to stricken France, will hang on the wall of the executive suite reception room on the third floor. The painting was presented to the American Legion under the patronage of the French Republic as the personal gift of the artist in 1922. "To your sons of free America, soldiers of the great war, I dedicate 'America,' were the artist's words in making the gift.

SPEECH INEFFECTUAL

Pomeroy, June 17.—Mine owners here claimed that the recent visit of John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, has not stopped work in mines operating under the 1917 wage scale. They claimed that the next day after Lewis' speech more union miners appeared for work than ever before and said the tonnage of the mines, thus working, has increased.

STEEPLEJACK LIVES THROUGH TORNADO

Sioux City, Ia., June 17.—Al Johnson, professional steeplejack, from California, clung like a leech to the top of the 125-foot water-tower at the Stockyards here during a recent rain tornado that swept this city, injuring fourteen persons and causing a property loss of about $250,000.

For five minutes the wind blew with a velocity of ninety five miles an hour. Johnson held on to his precarious perch, although his cap blew off, and his shirt-tails were whipped out.

"First time I was ever afraid in my life," was the way Johnson described his experience after the squall subsided.

MADE PATHOLOGIST

Columbus, O., June 17.—Appointment of Edward E. Boyer, Grandview as pathologist of the state bureau of juvenile research, was announced here today.

EXPECT FATALITIES IN JERSEY DISASTER WILL EXCEED FIFTY

Three Probes Under Way To Determine Cause Of Accident

Hackettstown, N. J., June 17.—The death toll in the Lackawanna train wreck mounted slowly upward today as three investigations got under way to fix responsibility for the catastrophe. A rechecking of the casualties listed in half a dozen hospitals, this morning, fixed the dead at forty three and the injured at thirty one, with the probability existing that the dead may total fifty before night fall.

Some of those injured, cannot survive, according to physicians. Aside from members of the train crew, most of whom came from Scranton, Pa., all of the dead and injured were from Chicago. They had left their homes Sunday on the special D. L. and W. train, bound for Hoboken where they expected to sail on Tuesday for a long awaited holiday in Germany. For some of the excursionists, the trip represented the saving and dream of a lifetime. All were of German descent and many of them came to the United States years ago as immigrants.

Aboard the U. S. liner Republic are 143 of the approximately 250 tourists, many of whom were treated aboard ship by surgeons for injuries received in the crash and burns from clouds of steam which enveloped the wreck-age.

The Republic sailed yesterday, after waiting two hours for a special train to bring the survivors and slightly injured from Rockport.

THREE INVESTIGATIONS

The separate investigations are being conducted by James Maybury, Jr., chief of the bureau of railroads of the board of public utility commissioners, of New Jersey; Coroner Fisher of Warren County and E. M. Rine, vice president and general manager of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad.

A question of authority developed today over disposition of the bodies. Coroner Walter J. Cathall, of Northampton County, Pa., issued an order that no bodies be removed from Easton until he had conducted an inquest. On receipt of this order, Dr. Paul Correll, chief surgeon of the Easton Hospital, said, he would ask for a court order to permit relatives to claim the bodies.

Coroner Fisher, of Warren County, New Jersey, who is to hold an inquest at the scene of the wreck, said he favored an immediate burial of all bodies.

The vanguard of relatives and friends of the dead and injured were expected to arrive here and at Easton, today, many of them having left Chicago yesterday. In the various towns where the injured are being treated and bodies are in morgues, local citizens had formed committees of sorrow to assist in the matter of hotel and other accommodations, those who were coming. Offers of financial assistance were being made by a number of prominent business men.

DEATH TOLL MAY BE FIFTY

Today over disposition of the bodies. Coroner Walter J. Cathall, of Northampton County, Pa., issued an order that no bodies be removed from Easton until he had conducted an inquest. On receipt of this order, Dr. Paul Correll, chief surgeon of the Easton Hospital, said, he would ask for a court order to permit relatives to claim the bodies.

Of the nine victims taken to the hospital at Dover, N. J., six died and the three remaining were in such a critical condition that surgeons held out no hopes for them. Three victims in the Memorial Hospital at Morristown, N. J., died before eight o'clock last night.

The morgue of C. W. Cochran here, held six bodies, the seventh, that of Jacob Scanlon having been sent to Scranton. Of the six bodies Cochran said the scalding steam had made possible identification remote.

NOTRE DAME STARS WILL TEACH ROCKNE METHODS IN DIXIE

Atlanta, Ga., June 17—Shades of the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame will gallop this Fall over the green-tufted gridirons of Dixie.

The theory of football propounded at South Bend by that eminent educator, Knute Rockne has so captured the heart and fancy of Southern gridiron followers that no less than six former Notre Dame stars have been signed by Dixie schools to spread his doctrines of attack and defense.

Included in the list are Don Miller and Jim Crowley—both members of that great quartet of backfield stars whose brilliance during the season of 1924 made the name "Notre Dame" a trademark for gridiron speed and cleverness.

The fleet Don, last of the five famous Miller brothers of Notre Dame, will spend his days this Fall teaching the budding backs at Georgia Tech how to run where they ain't and block'em where they are. His brother ballcarrier "Sleepy" Crowley, who sleeps like a small boy at a circus, will perform a like task at Georgia University.

SPREAD TEACHINGS

Also at Georgia will be Harry Mehre, line coach, whom Knute Rockne taught never to allow opposing backs to rip up a perfectly good defense the way his backs were wont to do. The "Mayor" remains at Georgia, while Frank Thomas, his co-worker of last Fall goes to Chattanooga University to spread the gospel of Rockne speed and cleverness.

Thomas will take over the duties of head coach at Chattanooga, and for assistance he will have the "pigskin" brains of Charlie Collins, a young man who learned the rudiments and elements and a few things more about football from one Knute Rockne, instructor in the science at Notre Dame University, Indiana. Collins was a teammate of the Four Horsemen on last year's famous eleven, playing one of the extremities.

The other member of the sextet who will attempt to raise a crop of "Rockne" gridiron warriors on Dixie soil is John Weibel, the midge guard, who will join the coaching staff at Vanderbilt University.

JAMESTOWN

On Friday the members of the Caesar Creek Baptist Church met in an all day meeting, at the church, the occasion being their annual picnic which is always held in the month of June. An unusually large assembly enjoyed a bountiful dinner at the noon hour. The afternoon was occupied with an interesting program.

The little folk gave their "Children's Day" exercises, after which, addresses and readings were given by visiting guests. Mrs. Etta Day, pastor of El Paso, Texas, who is the matron of a Home for unfortunate girls of that city, told in an interesting manner of the wonderfully helpful and reformatory work that is being done, and the Christian influence that is being exerted. Mrs. Davenport is a sister of the Rev. N. H. Long, pastor of the Caesar Creek Church and is here on her vacation. Other speakers were Mrs. Elizabeth Schell of Montezuma, Iowa; Rev. Hosmeister of South Solon; the Rev. Robert Albaugh of Jamestown and the pastor, Rev. Long. This event took place in the nature of a "home coming" as friends from a distance came to enjoy a most delightful day.

The Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Bennett opened the parsonage on Thursday evening to entertain the members of the Epworth League of the M. E. Church. After the routine of business was transacted, the host and hostess had prepared an amusing feature of entertainment for the young people. A special train excursion, representing different cities, Bible picture contests, games and guessing contests, made the evening very enjoyable. Cake and ices were served. About thirty-five members were present. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zimmerman and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thuma were invited guests of the evening.

The board of education of the South Solon High School has elected Miss Lelia Paulin principal for the coming school year. Miss Paulin has taught in the Jefferson Township centralized school for the past six years and was employed for 1925-26. Miss Martha Crawford of Xenia, has been the guest of Mrs. Clara Hatch. Miss Crawford taught in the Jamestown high school for thirteen years. Last year she taught in Auglaize County.

Miss Pauline Leveck has returned from Columbus, having gone there to attend the commencement exercises of a high school, her sister Dorothy being a member of the class of 1925.

Mrs. Mary A. Hedges and son, and daughter, of London, Canada, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Buckles.

Mrs. Cora Day who has been a teacher in the Springfield high school, will come to Jamestown the last of the week with her son Gail, for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Connor. Mrs. Day contemplates spending a part of her vacation in the Eastern states.

Mrs. J. Clark Lackey has returned from Massillon where she spent several months with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Eggbert.

Mr. A. J. Christopher is taking his annual vacation from his duties as the operator at the B. and O. office, and has gone to New York City to the home of his son Arthur and family, Mrs. Christopher having preceded him on a visit there. They will also be guests at the home of Forest Christopher, at Elizabeth, N. J. From there they will go to Hope Valley, Rhode Island and to Webster, Mass., to visit with friends.

Mrs. Robert C. Turnbull and Miss Ruth Turnbull have motored to Rockbridge Baths, Va., where they will spend six weeks with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith were invited to spend Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Whittington. Other dinner guests enjoyed the hospitality of the Whittington family.

The "Go Get 'Em" class of the Bible School of the Church of Christ will have an ice cream social on Saturday afternoon and evening, June 20. This will be up town and the public is cordially invited.

Dr. F. W. Ogan attended on Friday a special meeting of the Montgomery County Medical Association, which was held at Still Water, near Dayton. Two profitable and instructive sessions were held.

Mrs. Harold Lewis will entertain the members of the Home Missionary Society of the M. E. Church on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Harvey Cummings attended the State Encampment of the G. A. R. which convened at Mt. Vernon, last week. Although Mr. Cummings served in the Confederate Army, he never fails to attend both the state and national encampments and was the only representative from Jamestown and reports a most delightful time in meeting old acquaintances, and that Mt. Vernon entertained the veterans and their friends in a royal manner.

Charles Haney has moved his business from a room on North Lime-stone Street to Dr. L. C. Walker's room on East Main Street.

Jerry Toland and his sister, Miss Mildred spent Sunday with their mother, Mrs. George Toland, who is a patient at the Christ Hospital, Cincinnati.

The Misses Dorothy and Frostie, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bell have returned from Jacksonville, Fla., where they taught in the high school of that city. For six years they have taught in the same school.

The Misses Katherine Long and Juanita Bullock, former students of the O. W. U. at Delaware are spending the week there attending the commencement exercises and other college activities.

Mr. Glenn Perry of Zanesville is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Perry.

MODISH MITZI—What If It "Ain't Goin' To Rain No More?" By JAY V. JAY

"Yes, we are at the station, Adelaide and I. I've got on my new satin dress with the ducky jabot frills. It's raining cats and dogs, Polly, what will I do?" "Nothing," advises Polly at the other end of the wire. Leave it to Polly, she'll outwit a y wind or weather.

Polly arrives with all the rainy weather coats that she could beg, borrow or take. Adelaide and Mitzi will have to choose. A plaid or a cretonne, chintzy water proof? Which is for which? Polly herself has one of those transparent slickers with hat to match.

Adelaide has chosen the Scotch plaid waterproof. It's very gay. Of course it will fasten around the neck if it is necessary. Adelaide would rather risk being slightly damp and show the revers that are so smart. Polly thinks she has done exceptionally well on such short notice.

Mitzi is wearing the newest waterproof of chintz effect. The lines are rather English. But what happened to the rain? "It ain't goin' to rain no mor!" says Mitzi. "But I'll wear it anyway, it's such a good looking raincoat," she adds—which is more than can be said of most.

I've spent all last week uncovering a lot of secrets about my bosses business. As a press agent it is necessary that each week I say something about them and this week I'm going to discuss "where things come from."

The "Hammer"

Hammers, such as on sale at low prices and good goods at the Greene County Hardware Company, were invented by an old bird by the name of Ruckus who lived way back in 9,469 B. C., in the village of Itchwahoo which as everyone knows today went out of business a couple of years ago on account of the High Cost of Living.

This Ruckus person got to be such a poor shot with a rock that he wanted something which would enable him to hit 'em without missing. He got to monkeying around with a handle and several small pieces of iron one day and before night he had made himself a hammer. At that time he didn't know it was a hammer, never having seen one before, so when a friend of his asked him what it was, he replied "Hammer!!!!" which in Itchwahoo language means "It's none of your blamed business." The name stuck and even to this day when a fellow starts after another fellow with a hammer people will say:—"What's that chap starting a ruckus about?" They got the word "ruckus" from the inventor and it seems to me pays him a very pleasant compliment into the bargain.

The "Pill"

Pills were invented by a man named Jones who was a chauffeur for Lot's wife shortly before she got so darned salty. Jones had a couple of wives who were always 'ailing about one thing or another so one day he met a medical man who told him that if he could get his wives to eat a couple of live tadpoles they'd take on new life and spirits. Previous to this, the treatment he had been giving them was confined to a couple of uppercuts and a mean left jab. He told his wives about the new idea and while they were willing to try anything once, they couldn't stand eating a tadpole while it was still wiggling. Right here comes the invention.

Jones goes out in the yard and

Sayre and Hemphill's sell nice pills.

Johnny Kohl sells Victor-Springfield Tires.

P. S. I met Mr. Higgins today and he introduced me to several business men as "my dear friend Mr. Filbert." I called his attention to his mistake later and he claimed scooping out the center of a grapefruit, pours in a cup of water and about a half pint of fresh tadpoles. After sewing it up he takes it back to wife number one and she, thinking it was just an ordinary grapefruit swallows it whole as was the usual custom in those days. The medicine was in her!!!

Elated at his success he repeats the operation on another grapefruit and wife number two follows suit! History tells us that this marks the beginning of the use of what was later known as "The Pill." I haven't been able to find out who named the blamed things but I DO know that Doc. Sayre makes altogether different kinds of pills and that many of them are much easier to take.

The two wives died later.

The "Tires"

In spite of all I could do in the way of investigation I couldn't find out who invented tires. I asked Johnny Kohl and he scratched his head a bit and figured they were invented by a hog raiser who liked his eggs done sunny side up.

I went down to the library and looked up "hog raiser" in the dictionary but it didn't say a word about any thing inventing a tire and I think I've been kidded.

I asked Bob at Mr. Kohl's place if he knew anything about tires and he claimed that he did and he spent an hour explaining how they worked and why and how much they weighed, but when I asked him who invented them he said no one had invented them and that from what he had gathered they were part of a Ford car and the other cars had copied them. He said that the hoo's on the old fashioned horse were the same as a tire on an automobile. He later told me a gittell out of there as he was tired of talking. He probably had a hang nail bothering him.

If I find out anything more about the tire I'll press agent it next week.

In case my bosses get to thinking that I'm not on the job, I'll print their names below again so that I won't hear any complaints from them.

FAMOUS FRENCH RECIPES

HALVA

Paris—"Halva" is the official Russian "sweet" now found in all the best Parisian shops.

Prepare a syrup with one-half pound of sugar and a little water. Boil one pint of milk and keep hot. Put into a copper kettle one pound of butter, add one pound of large semolina and let brown. Add a good handful of peeled and chopped almonds, and then, little by little, the boiling milk, then the syrup, stirring well, so that it does not stick.

For the halva to be good it is very necessary that the semolina has absorbed all the liquid not reduced to a paste, but with the grains detached. When the almonds are nicely browned and the mixture can be detached by spoonfuls the halva is done.

Arrange in a dome on a round plate. Powder with sugar and cinnamon and let cool.

The Rev. W. H. Tilford, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will take a two weeks' vacation, beginning Thursday. He will take another two weeks' rest the latter part of August.

FRUIT MARKET WILL BE OPEN THURSDAY

The store room in the Steele Building at Main and Detroit Streets, has been leased by the B and S. Liberty Market and a complete fruit and vegetable store will be opened by the company Thursday, June 18.

Ben Becker and H. Shine, who will conduct the local store, have been in the wholesale and retail fruit and vegetable business in Dayton for the last twelve years. The company operates all of the outside fruit and vegetable stands in Dayton. Mr. Becker, who will spend all of his time at the store here, has been buyer for the firm for twelve years. Mr. Shine will also spend much of his time in this city until the new business has been fully launched. DUOCO is a specific product created and manufactured only by du Pont. It is applied to automobiles by 23 manufacturers and by authorized DUOCO Refinishers. DUOCO is not a paint nor a varnish. It is a finish of velvety smoothness and astonishing durability.

Naturally, a product with such remarkable qualities and immediate acceptance by the public is widely imitated. But the fundamental behind DUOCO never can be imitated—for the accumulated experience of du Pont chemical engineers stands alone.

... and only one way to have it applied
correctly

That is by taking your car to an Authorized Duco Refinishing Station—qualified by special training to apply DUOCO, using the complete du Pont Duco System from the bare metal up. Look for the sign. Then, and only then can you be sure that you have — DUOCO!

- 1 The longest wearing finish known
- 2 A finish that gas, oil, mud, tar, battery acids, etc., cannot harm
- 3 A finish that is easier to keep clean
- 4 A finish in the shade and lustre of your choice
- 5 A finish that increases the re-sale value of your car

—and finally a finish that requires only a very short time for the complete job.

Well, a Dayton husband in a divorce court says his wife threw at him and hit him with a teapot. One of those baseball nines up there better sign her up. They haven't any such control in the Reds this year.

When she threw the teapot at her side-kick, the tea was not the only thing that was boiling. However, she soon cooled down. The tea might not have been strained but there relations were.

FROM HENCE SHE CAME

When the teapot struck Him on the jaw, Said he "Go back To my mother-in-law."

Her love was cold, but the tea was everything else but. She hit him on the chest, and he made a clean breast of it to the judge. The handle struck him in the jaw and now he wants her handled for it.

He had been drinking out of a saucer, so this letting the tea soak through the skin, went against the hide. She ruined his tie and now he has quit singing "Blest Be the Tie that Binds."

POLLY, PUT THE KETTLE ON

When my wife picks up the tea pot, I want not that what he got; For me a shot of tea hot, Some hot tea from the teapot.

When the tea spilled on his chest he thought he saw plenty grounds for divorce. After that there was little stirring going on between them. Nothing percolating, in other words.

Husband has no more teapot. But he does have one cup left and it runneth over with sorrow. He should be interested in buying more dishes. We would like to suggest that he look in The Gazette ads daily.

SHE THREW A TEA POT IN THE AIR

She threw a teapot in the air, Where it struck she didn't care, But her husband said in the witness chair That it hit his head and made him swear.

It was a little tea party and he served as a receiving line. While it wasn't black tea, it gave him a black eye and he hasn't been able to see through it.

MICHAEL'S MARRIAGE

By MICHAEL

CHAPTER LXXI

"Why did you smile when Aunt Mary dragged in Mr. Loph and that Marshall woman?" Lila persisted when they were alone in their bedroom.

Michael silently regarded himself in a mirror and decided he would have to shave in the morning, darn it.

"Well, I know why," Lila said. "It's because you're going to get to see HER again." She sat down, nervous with anger.

"Now, dear! I don't care if I ever see her again! I smiled because at the very moment we were hoping to be delivered from the handsome Mr. Loph and the designing Miss Marshall, we were tossed into their arms, so to speak."

She slowly crept up to his side. "Dearest, let's not go."

He shrugged. "Anything you say, my dear; but I think it's foolish of us to allow ourselves to be annoyed by such an inconsequential thing. I'll promise not to pay any attention to Miss Marshall if we go—and I'll try not to be jealous if Mr. Loph continues his attentions to you."

Her hand shot up and slapped him, but not in anger. "Hush up about him. He isn't one-one millionth as darling as you are!"

Their lips met and for half an hour they were in each other's arms. It was Michael who broke the spell, yawning: "We'd better be turning in. We need the sleep."

Lila was annoyed. She got the idea that he was bored. Al ready he was becoming a husband! He was tired of her kisses. The half hour had been an precious moment to her.

"Michael, please don't be so cold."

"Cold—What do you mean?" His arms enveloped her.

"You used to kiss me lots, but now you only peck at my lips, and you're done. You don't love me any more."

Her mood was incomprehensible to Michael. He pictured himself as a particularly loving husband. Did she expect him to be in her arms continually?

"Why—" He put his lips to hers, and held them there a long time, but it was not a kiss of love, but a kiss of duty. Lila sensed it. She broke away.

"I don't want you to kiss me just because you think you HAVE to," she left him and fled into the dressing-room.

He stood staring after her. The idea had been growing on him for some days that Lila had changed completely since their marriage. She was a stranger to him now, he felt. He just couldn't understand this complaint of hers about not loving her enough.

He thought about his marriage as he stood in the bathroom in his pajamas and dressing-gown, brushing his teeth. Was he disappointed? He didn't know.

The question plagued him as he lay in bed, waiting for sleep. He didn't know.

"Michael, what do you suppose is in the chest? I'll bet you know, and just didn't want to tell me before Aunt Mary. Tell me."

"Really, dear, I don't know. I didn't know that it existed until the will was read."

"Oh, I'm so excited about it! I can hardly wait to get home and open it."

So she was thinking of the chest, and not of his coldness, he reflected. Had she forgotten so soon?

"You'd better not build too many air castles on the strength of what's in it," he responded. "It may be only a book of advice to brides, as the clever young man suggested tonight."

"I don't think so," she said. (To be continued.)

BRITAIN WILL KEEP NEUTRAL ON CHINESE WAR

SENATORS BORAH AND WALSH FAVOR POLICY OF ADMINISTRATION

Democrat Says Situation Menaces World Peace—Favors Neutrality

London, June 17.—If civil war breaks out in China, Great Britain will remain neutral, the foreign office announced today.

Great Britain has sufficient warships in Chinese ports to protect her interests, it was said, but will not interfere in domestic warfare.

London, June 17.—Cantonese troops who routed the Tunesians from control of the city have restored order, disarmed 14,000 mercenaries and quieted anti-foreign demonstrations, according to claims they advanced in today's dispatches from Canton.

The new administration is decidedly communistic. It has decided, the dispatches added, to abolish the present civil government in favor of a commission of seven, which General Feng will support.

Washington, June 17.—From two important congressional sources the administration today received approval of its policy of keeping out of the present Chinese trouble so far as is possible, while extending adequate protection to American lives and interests.

Senator William F. Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee, declared that the situation in China was serious, but not by any act of the United States and that he could see "no reason why the United States should be drawn into any controversy or conflict with Chinese authorities of the Chinese people."

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat of Montana, described the series of outbreaks in China as a "menace to world peace" and said that the United States should go slow in the Orient.

"I fear some country will go in with her troops and occupy a portion of China in retaliation for the murder of her nationals," said Walsh. "That would excite the jealousy of other nations who in an effort to keep pace, might easily provoke a new world war. It is a situation fraught with great danger to world peace and I feel another world war might grow out of the unfortunate chaos in China."

Walsh based his apprehension not only on current reports from riot-torn sections of China but on his personal observations made two years ago on a visit in China when he predicted the present uprising against foreigners.

Walsh deprecated proposals for the creation of an "international concert" by which the government of China had been administered by outside powers. Such a movement, he warned, would never be accepted by Chinese because it would deprive them of national liberty.

"I confess I can see no very satisfactory solution of the perplexing problem," Walsh concluded. "In view of the apparent inability of China to maintain a national government worthy of the name or even provincial governments that can offer reasonable safety to foreigners temporarily in their borders."

STATE SENATOR WINS NOMINATION FOR JERSEY GOVERNOR

Democrats Nominate Without Opposition—Wet and Dry Issues in Campaign

Trenton, N. J., June 17.—New Jersey Republicans have nominated State Senator Arthur Whitney of Mendham for the governorship. It was disclosed today in fairly complete returns from yesterday's statewide primary.

The Democratic nomination went to City Commissioner A. Harry Moore of Jersey City, without opposition.

Estimates based upon returns this morning indicated Whitney's plurality over his two opponents, ex-attorney General Thomas E. McCran of Paterson, and ex-Judge Cornelius Doremus of Ridgewood, would come close to 40,000. The voting generally was light.

McCran was second and Doremus a poor third.

The wet and dry issue and religious differences entered the Republican contest to a considerable degree. McCran is a Catholic and avowedly anti-prohibition. He polled a large vote in the cities and industrial sections, but Doremus, a pronounced dry, was snowed under.

The defeat of McCran marks a defeat also for Senator Walter E. Edge, the Republican leader of New Jersey, who had sponsored and promoted his candidacy.

President's Son Entertained

John Coolidge, son of the President, was a guest during his vacation from Amherst College at the home of Governor Trumbull, to Connecticut, at Plainfield, where Miss Florence Trumbull acted as his hostess. Her parents denied reports that anything more than friendship linked the pair.

FRED C. KELLY SCORES EVOLUTION TRIAL IN ALUMNI ADDRESS; 145 ATTEND DINNER

"Bobbed Hair Greatest Invention of Age" Says Kelly of 1900 Class—New Class Received With Enjoyable Program, Dinner and Dance

One hundred and forty-five members of the alumni association of Central High School and 1925 graduating class attended one of the most elaborate annual receptions in a number of years held at the high school building Tuesday evening.

Short talks by Fred C. Kelly, noted author and humorist, County Auditor R. O. Wad and Miss Mary Wilgus, all graduates of Central High School, were the main features of the program.

Election of officers held during the program resulted in the selection of W. W. Galloway, Cedarville, president for the coming year; Miss Olivia Cost, vice-president; Miss Mary Orr, secretary and Frederick Anderson, treasurer. The executive committee for 1925 consists of Miss Edith Neeld, Miss Louise Baldwin, John North, Mrs. John G. Baldwin and Leslie Moore.

In a humorous talk, speckled with bits of wholesome philosophy, Kelly diverged to take a rap at the Scopes anti-evolution trial in Dayton, Tenn. Kelly characterized the trial as a "monstrous idiotic spectacle to enforce the law against the right to think."

Neither flaying the theory of evolution or upholding Biblical teachings on the origin of man, Kelly inquired mind. "Education is at a pretty low ebb if it is prescribed by the state legislature, congress is bad enough," he said.

Kelly directed his talk principally to the graduating class and recalled the old days when "there was a struggle for education and survival of the fittest."

"In my time we had to climb three flights of stairs in our eagerness for education," he said, "and we had to 'bootleg' most of our exercise."

Musing on the changes that have taken place since he graduated from

"old Central" in 1900, Kelly pointed out that bobbed hair is one of the greatest inventions of the age, "enabling a woman to look as well in the morning as at night."

"I am convinced that education is 100 years behind the times," he asserted. "High school is devoted to preparing the student to enter college while college prepares the student to pass the semester examinations. Education is as standardized as 'Ford parts' and makes thinking unnecessary."

The program opened in the cafeteria gaily decorated, where a two-course banquet was served. Songs were sung by the guests.

Miss Lorena Paullin, president of the association, presided and gave a short talk to the graduating class welcoming it into the association. A large representation of the 1925 class was present. Minutes of the last meeting were read by the treasurer and secretary and approved.

Karl B. Bloom was toastmaster and presided over the remainder of the entertainment. He read several letters from absent members of the association.

A song program followed. Miss Zella Soward and Miss Leona Kella gave several selections accompanied by Miss Theda Downing at the piano, which were well received by the audience.

Mrs. Joy Hutchison Ebright, member of the class of 1862, and the oldest "grad" present, was presented with a bouquet of flowers by Miss Josephine John, of the class of 1925.

County Auditor R. O. Wad, the first speaker on the program, introduced by his sobriquet of "Ace" Wad, gave a short talk recalling old school days and laying a tribute to the teachers on the altar of memory. Auditor Wad particularly stressed "sentiment" and "friendship" as the finer things of life.

The second speaker on the program, Miss Mary Wilgus, former teacher of mathematics at the high school, gave an interesting talk of her travels and experiences in India. Taking her hearers on a sight-seeing tour, Miss Wilgus explained some of the history connected with the country, its ancient traits and customs of the inhabitants.

Dancing was enjoyed in the gymnasium as the closing feature of the program. Music was furnished by Kline's Orchestra, of Dayton. The Rev. A. E. Kelly, San Francisco, Cal., whose wife is an alumnus, gave the invocation.

GENERAL BUNDY NOW RETIRED FROM ARMY AFTER LONG CAREER

Commander at Ft. Hayes Is Succeeded Today—Had Bright Record

Washington, June 17.—Major-General Omar Bundy, Commanding Officer of the Fifth Corps Area at Fort Hayes, Columbus, Ohio, retires today at the age of sixty-four after serving forty-two years in the American Army. He is succeeded at Fort Hayes by Major-General R. L. Howze, whose appointment to that command was announced by the War Department several months ago.

General Bundy's retirement created a vacancy in the list of Major-Generals, which was filled, by President Coolidge, upon the recommendation of Acting-Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis, by the promotion of Brigadier-General Joseph E. Kuhn. General Kuhn will assume his rank beginning tomorrow.

Born in Indiana in 1861, General Bundy entered the Military Academy at West Point from that state in 1879, graduating four years later. He is also a graduate of the Infantry and Cavalry schools and of the special course for field officers of the Army Service schools.

PICKED BY PERSHING

During the World War General Bundy, then a Major-General, commanded the famous Second Division at Chateau-Thierry, when the last great offensive of the Germans was stopped. Immediately following that defensive General Bundy was placed in command of the Sixth Army Corps and charged with the responsibility of supervising the final training of divisions preparatory to their being ordered to the front. When the needs of war demanded that general officers supervise the training of divisions in the United States General Bundy was among the first such officers selected by General John J. Pershing for that important duty.

In the Spanish-American War General Bundy became a brevet Major for gallantry in the campaign resulting in the surrender of the Spanish forces at Santiago. In the Philippine Insurrection he participated in numerous campaigns and was cited in general orders for his skill and gallantry in handling his command during the assault on hostile Moros at Mount Dajo, Island of Jolo, on March 6-8, 1906.

General Bundy also took part in the fighting against the Crow Indians near Fort Custer, Montana, in 1887, and in the campaign against the Sioux Indians in South Dakota during the Winter of 1890-1891.

In addition to his duty with troops, General Bundy has also served in the Adjutant-General's and the Inspector-General's departments in Washington. General Bundy was decorated by the French Government for his services in France with the Croix de Guerre and the Legion of Honor with palms.

CARMEN INCREASED

Elyria, June 17.—Motormen and conductors of both divisions of the Cleveland, Columbus and Southwestern Electric Company have been granted an increase of three cents an hour in wages, making a maximum of fifty-seven cents an hour for employees after the second year.

FEW OWN HOMES

Chicago, June 17.—Eleven million families in the United States in a total of 24,350,000 own their own homes, according to B. G. Dahlberg, lumber manufacturer. "This is only 45.6 per cent," said Dahlberg. "There would seem no sound reason why the percentage of home-owning families should not be much greater in view of the fact that our total national wealth is now $20,000,000,000, or close to $3,000 per capita for the entire population. "Americans are becoming a race of renters and flat dwellers," Dahlberg declared.

GOLD MONEY LOOKED GOOD TO FRED KELLY YEARS AGO

Fred C. Kelly, magazine writer and former Xenian, who addressed the Central High School Alumni Association at its annual meeting Tuesday evening, draws frequently on boyhood experiences in Xenia for illustrations and anecdotes contained in his magazine articles.

Nation's Business, a magazine devoted to business interests, recently contained an article by Kelly in which the following experience of the writer, supposed to have happened in Xenia, is recounted: "When I was a small lad out in my native Ohio county seat, I had a nice little $15 camera. After a time I tired of it and thought of placing it on the market. I confided to a boy friend, son of a banker up the street, that I would take $10 for the camera. This boy was all excited over the chance to get a $15 camera for $10 and went home in great haste to confer with his father. He returned crestfallen, saying that his father would not be willing to pay more than $5.

"I indignantly rejected that offer and tried elsewhere to sell for $10. But I was not successful. All my friends thought $10 was little enough for such a fine camera, but the trouble was that none had so much money. Then one day my original prospect, the banker's boy, came to me with a $5 gold piece. It was the first time I had ever held a gold piece in my hand and it looked good.

"Better take it for that camera," shyly suggested my friend.

"After momentary hesitation, I did. "Later I found out that the boy's shrewd banker father had advanced the $5 gold piece with the prophecy that I would accept the offer. He had theorized that a boy who refused $5 in ordinary medium of exchange might not be able to resist gold.

"And he was right. "No wonder so many bankers get along so well!"

INDIANA'S WAR MEMORIAL DEDICATED AND TURNED OVER TO LEGIONNAIRES AT SERVICE

Office Building and National Headquarters Accepted By Commander Drain—New Structure Appointed Luxuriously

Indianapolis, Ind., June 17.—Following a brief but impressive ceremony, the first unit of Indiana's $10,000,000 World War Memorial was dedicated and formally turned over to the American Legion today to be used as an office building and national headquarters.

Nationally known persons participated in the exercises. Governor Ed Jackson and James A. Drain, national commander of the Legion, delivering the principal addresses.

Those glimpsing the initial unit for the first time were lavish in their praise of its architectural beauty, unanimously acclaiming it the most interestingly equipped structure of its kind in the country.

Arranged in the form of a Senate chamber, with a raised rostrum for the national commander's chair, the national executive committee chamber is the feature room of the building. Desks and chairs of committee men bear the seals of their respective State, Territory and foreign country represented. Draperies of blue velvet and carpeting to match blend harmoniously with the general color scheme.

In the spacious reception room of the executive suite there will be placed cases containing rare trophies and souvenirs of the World War and they will be available for public inspection at all times.

The original of "America" symbolic painting by Rex-Mel, official artist of the French Ministry of War, which was designed as an expression of America's timely aid to stricken France, will hang on the wall of the executive suite reception room on the third floor. The painting was presented to the American Legion under the patronage of the French Republic as the personal gift of the artist in 1922. "To your sons of free America, soldiers of the great war, I dedicate 'America,' were the artist's words in making the gift.

SPEECH INEFFECTUAL

Pomeroy, June 17.—Mine owners here claimed that the recent visit of John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, has not stopped work in mines operating under the 1917 wage scale. They claimed that the next day after Lewis' speech more union miners appeared for work than ever before and said the tonnage of the mines, thus working, has increased.

EXPECT FATALITIES IN JERSEY DISASTER WILL EXCEED FIFTY

Three Probes Under Way To Determine Cause Of Accident

Hackettstown, N. J., June 17.—The death toll in the Lackawanna train wreck mounted slowly upward today as three investigations got under way to fix responsibility for the catastrophe. A rechecking of the casualties listed in half a dozen hospitals, this morning, fixed the dead at forty-three and the injured at thirty one, with the probability existing that the dead may total fifty before night fall.

Some of those injured, cannot survive, according to physicians. Aside from members of the train crew, most of whom came from Scranton, Pa., all of the dead and injured were from Chicago. They had left their homes Sunday on the special D. L. and W. train, bound for Hoboken where they expected to sail on Tuesday for a long awaited holiday in Germany. For some of the excursionists, the trip represented the saving and dream of a lifetime. All were of German descent and many of them came to the United States years ago as immigrants.

Aboard the U. S. liner Republic are 143 of the approximately 250 tourists, many of whom were treated aboard ship by surgeons for injuries received in the crash and burns from clouds of steam which enveloped the wreck-age.

The Republic sailed yesterday, after waiting two hours for a special train to bring the survivors and slightly injured from Rockport.

THREE INVESTIGATIONS

The separate investigations are being conducted by James Maybury, Jr., chief of the bureau of railroads of the board of public utility commissioners, of New Jersey; Coroner Fisher of Warren County and E. M. Rice, vice president and general manager of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad.

A question of authority developed today over disposition of the bodies. Coroner Walter J. Cathrall, of Northampton County, Pa., issued an order that no bodies be removed from Easton until he had conducted an inquest. On receipt of this order, Dr. Paul Correll, chief surgeon of the Easton Hospital, said, he would ask for a court order to permit relatives to claim the bodies.

Coroner Fisher, of Warren County, New Jersey, who is to hold an inquest at the scene of the wreck, said he favored an immediate burial of all bodies.

The vanguard of relatives and friends of the dead and injured were expected to arrive here and at Easton, today, many of them having left Chicago yesterday. In the various towns where the injured are being treated and bodies are in morgues, local citizens had formed committees of sorrow to assist in the matter of hotel and other accommodations, those who were coming. Offers of financial assistance were being made by a number of prominent business men.

DEATH TOLL MAY BE FIFTY

That the death toll would total fifty shortly was the prediction of doctors. Of the injured in the Easton Hospital, nearly all were suffering from first degree burns caused by steam of the wrecked engine. In Warren Hospital, in Philadelphia, six of the injured were in a critical condition, two of the eight removed there having died during the night.

Of the nine victims taken to the hospital at Dover, N. J., six died and the three remaining were in such a critical condition that surgeons held out no hopes for them. Three victims in the Memorial Hospital at Morristown, N. J., died before eight o'clock last night.

The morgue of C. W. Cochrane here, held six bodies, the seventh, that of Jacob Scanlon having been sent to Scranton. Of the six bodies Cochrane said the scalding steam had made possible identification remote.

STEEPLEJACK LIVES THROUGH TORNADO

Sioux City, Ia., June 17.—Al Johnson, professional steeplejack, from California, clung like a leech to the top of the 125-foot water tower at the Stockyards here during a recent tornado that swept this city, injuring fourteen persons and causing a property loss of about $250,000.

For five minutes the wind blew with a velocity of ninety five miles an hour. Johnson held on to his precarious perch, although his cap blew off, and his shirt-tails were whipped out.

"First time I was ever afraid in my life," was the way Johnson described his experience after the squall subsided.

NOTRE DAME STARS WILL TEACH ROCKNE METHODS IN DIXIE

Atlanta, Ga., June 17.—Shades of the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame will gallop this Fall over the green-tufted gridirons of Dixie.

The theory of football propounded at South Bend by that eminent educator, Knute Rockne has so captured the heart and fancy of Southern gridiron followers that no less than six former Notre Dame stars have been signed by Dixie schools to spread his doctrines of attack and defense.

Included in the list are Don Miller and Jim Crowley—both members of that great quartet of backfield stars whose brilliance during the season of 1924 made the name "Notre Dame" a trademark for gridiron speed and cleverness.

The fleet Don, last of the five famous Miller brothers of Notre Dame, will spend his days this Fall teaching the budding backs at Georgia Tech how to run where they ain't and block'em where they are. His brother ballcarrier "Sleepy" Crowley, who sleeps like a small boy at a circus, will perform a like task at Georgia University.

SPREAD TEACHINGS

Also at Georgia will be Harry Mehre, line coach, whom Knute Rockne taught never to allow opposing backs to rip up a perfectly good defense the way his backs were wont to do. The "Mayor" remains at Georgia, while Frank Thomas, his co-worker of last Fall goes to Chattanooga University to spread the gospel of Rockne speed and cleverness.

Thomas will take over the duties of head coach at Chattanooga, and for assistance he will have the "pigskin" brains of Charlie Collins, a young man who learned the rudiments and elements and a few things more about football from one Knute Rockne, instructor in the science at Notre Dame University, Indiana. Collins was a teammate of the Four Horsemen on last year's famous eleven, playing one of the extramitties.

The other member of the sextet who will attempt to raise a crop of "Rockneed" gridiron warriors on Dixie soil is John Weibel, the midwest guard, who will join the coaching staff at Vanderbilt University.

JAMESTOWN

On Friday the members of the Caesar Creek Baptist Church met in an all day meeting, at the church, the occasion being their annual picnic which is always held in the month of June. An unusually large assembly enjoyed a bountiful dinner at the noon hour. The afternoon was occupied with an interesting program.

The little folk gave their "Children's Day" exercises, after which, addresses and readings were given by visiting guests. Mrs. Etta Davenport of El Paso, Texas, who is the matron of a home for unfortunate girls of that city, told in an interesting manner of the wonderfully helpful and reformatory work that is being done, and the Christian influence that is being exerted. Mrs. Davenport is a sister of the Rev. N. H. Long, pastor of the Caesar Creek Church and is here on her vacation. Other speakers were Mrs. Elizabeth Schell of Montezuma, Iowa; Rev. Hosmeister of South Solon; the Rev. Robert Albough of Jamestown and the pastor, Rev. Long. This event too, was in the nature of a "home coming" as friends from a distance came to enjoy a most delightful day.

The Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Bennett opened the program on Thursday evening to entertain the members of the Epworth League of the M. E. Church. After the routine of business was transacted, the host and hostess had prepared an amusing feature of entertainment for the young people. A special train excursion, representing different cities, Bible picture contests, games and guessing contests, made the evening very enjoyable. Cake and ices were served. About thirty-five members were present. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zimmerman and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thuma were invited guests of the evening.

The board of education of the South Solon High School has elected Miss Lella Paulin principal for the coming school year. Miss Paulin has taught in the Jefferson Township centralized school for the past six years and was employed for 1925-26.

Miss Martha Crawford of Xenia, has been the guest of Mrs. Clara Hatch. Miss Crawford taught in the Jamestown high school for thirteen years. Last year she taught in Auglaize County.

Miss Pauline Leveck has returned from Columbus, having gone there to attend the commencement exercises of a high school, her sister Dorothy being a member of the class of 1925.

Mrs. Mary A. Hedges and son, and daughter, of London, Canada, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Buckles.

Mrs. Cora Day who has been a teacher in the Springfield high school, will come to Jamestown the last of the week with her son Gail, for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Connor. Mrs. Day contemplates spending a part of her vacation in the Eastern states.

Mr. J. Clark Lackey has returned from Massillon where she spent several months with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Eggert.

Mr. A. J. Christopher is taking his annual vacation from his duties as the operator at the B. and O. office, and has gone to New York City to the home of his son Arthur and family, Mrs. Christopher having preceded him on a visit there. They will also be guests at the home of Forest Christopher, at Elizabeth, N. J. From there they will go to Hope Valley, Rhode Island and to Webster, Mass., to visit with friends.

Mr. Robert C. Turnbull and Miss Ruth Turnbull have motored to Rockbridge Baths, Va., where they will spend six weeks with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith were invited to spend Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Whittington. Other dinner guests enjoyed the hospitality of the Whittington family.

The "Go Get 'Em" class of the Bible School of the Church of Christ will have an ice cream social on Saturday afternoon and evening, June 20. This will be up town and the public is cordially invited.

Dr. F. W. Ogan attended on Friday a special meeting of the Montgomery County Medical Association, which was held at Still Water, near Dayton. Two profitable and instructive sessions were held.

Mrs. Harold Lewis will entertain the members of the Home Missionary Society of the M. E. Church on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Harvey Cummings attended the State Encampment of the G. A. R. which convened at Mt. Vernon, last week. Although Mr. Cummings served in the Confederate Army, he never fails to attend both the state and national encampments and was the only representative from Jamestown and reports a most delightful time in meeting old acquaintances, and that Mt. Vernon entertained the veterans and their friends in a royal manner.

Charles Haney has moved his business from a room on North Limestone Street to Dr. L. C. Walker's room on East Main Street.

Jerry Toland and his sister, Miss Mildred spent Sunday with their mother, Mrs. George Toland, who is a patient at the Christ Hospital, Cincinnati.

I've spent all last week uncovering a lot of secrets about my boss's business. As a press agent it is necessary that each week I say something about them and this week I'm going to discuss "where things come from."

The "Hammer"

Hammers, such as on sale at low prices and good goods at the Greene County Hardware Company, were invented by an old bird by the name of Ruckus who lived way back in 9,469 B. C., in the village of Itchwahoo which as everyone knows today went out of business a couple of years ago on account of the High Cost of Living.

This Ruckus person got to be such a poor shot with a rock that he wanted something which would enable him to hit 'em without missing. He got to monkeying around with a handle and several small pieces of iron one day and before night he had made himself a hammer. At that time he didn't know it was a hammer, never having seen one before, so when a friend of his asked him what it was, he replied "Hammer!!!" which in Itchwahoo language means "It's none of your blamed business." The name stuck and even to this day when a fellow starts after another fellow with a hammer people will say:—"What's that chap starting a ruckus about?" They got the word "ruckus" from the inventor and it seems to me pays him a very pleasant compliment into the bargain.

The "Pill"

Pills were invented by a man named Jones who was a chauffeur for Lot's wife shortly before she got so darned salty. Jones had a couple of wives who were always 'ailing about one thing or another so one day he met a medical man who told him that if he could get his wives to eat a couple of live tadpoles they'd take on new life and spirits. Previous to this, the treatment he had been giving them was confined to a couple of uppercuts and a mean left jab. He told his wives about the new idea and while they were willing to try anything once, they couldn't stand eating a tadpole while it was still wiggling. Right here comes the invention.

Jones goes out in the yard and

The Greene County Hardware Co. sells nice hammers.

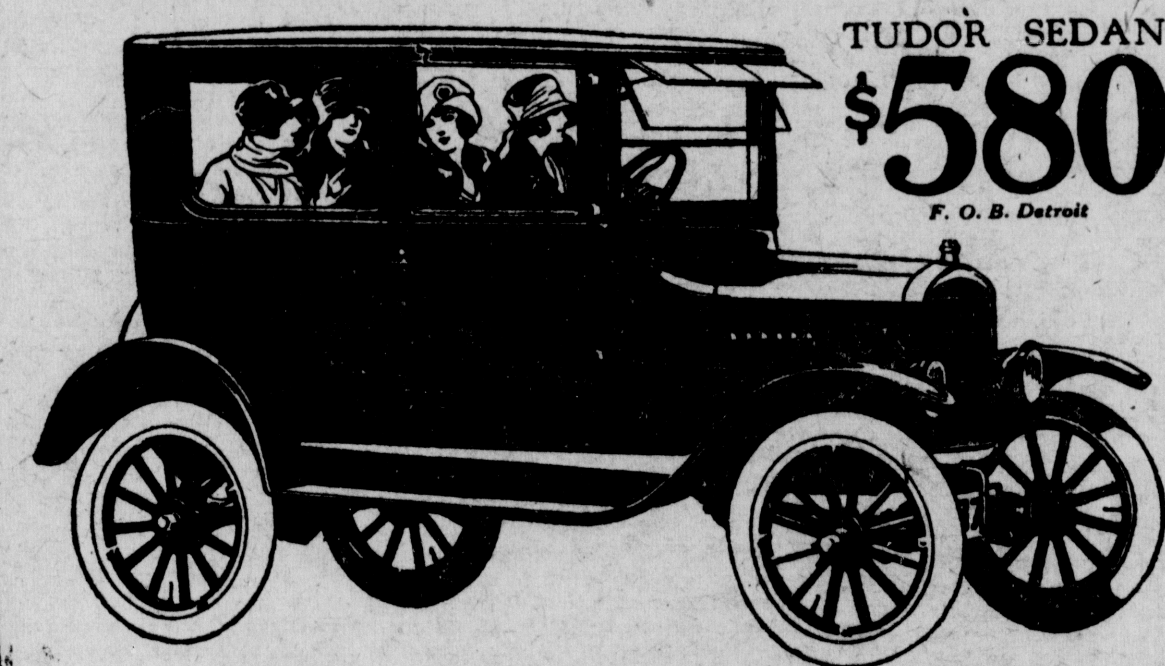

Sayre and Hemphill's sell nice pills.

Johnny Kohl sells Victor-Springfield Tires.

P. S. I met Mr. Higgins today and he introduced me to several business men as "my dear friend Mr. Filbert." I called his attention to his mistake later and he claimed that he had made no mistake and advised me to look up the name in the dictionary. I'm undecided as to whether that guy likes me or not.

TO REPAIR STREET IN YELLOW SPRINGS

Greene County Commissioners have authorized the appropriation of $3,000 out of the two mill road levy for road repair work in Yellow Springs. Xenia Avenue, one of the principal thoroughfares in Yellow Springs, is said to be badly in need of repairs. County Commissioners authorized the appropriation in accordance with the summer paving and repair of roads program in the county which is being outlined.

FAMOUS FRENCH RECIPES

HALVA

Paris—"Halva" is the official Russian "sweet" now found in all the best Parisian shops.

Prepare a syrup with one-half pound of sugar and a little water. Boil one pint of milk and keep hot. Put into a copper kettle one pound of butter, add one pound of large semolina and let brown. Add a good handful of peeled and chopped almonds, and then, little by little, the boiling milk, then the syrup, stirring well, so that it does not stick.

For the halva to be good it is very necessary that the semolina has absorbed all the liquid not reduced to a paste, but with the grains detached.

When the almonds are nicely browned and the mixture can be detached by spoonfuls the halva is done.

Arrange in a dome on a round plate. Powder with sugar and cinnamon and let cool.

The Rev. W. H. Tilford, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will take a two weeks' vacation, beginning Thursday. He will take another two weeks' rest the latter part of August.

The Misses Ruth Galliger and Rose Norckauer, were the week end guests of Miss Irene Alcock of Dayton.

HOW TOUGH IS BEEF?

NEWS dispatches say that the United States Bureau of Standards, in its insatiable thirst for investigations, has now launched studies of the toughness of beef, the crushing strength of eggs and the breaking point of hog legs.

The dispatch goes on to say that the scientists in this entertaining bureau have now studied the sizes and contours of flappers, hosiery, the chewing power of false teeth, the heat of the stars, the effect of solar eclipses on radio, the birth of pigs under painted canvas, synthetic sugar, weight of the earth, warming quality of blankets, density of denatured alcohol and the germ killing power of ultra violet rays.

The eminent men in the bureau seem intent upon determining scientifically and accurately the entire available statistics on every detail of human existence. It is therefore reasonable to suppose that in time they will be able to answer such all-important questions as: how long will cross-word puzzles be popular? Why do onlookers always know more about putting out a fire than the firemen? And where does all the advice on how to cure rheumatism come from?

The scientists may be able to find some perfectly logical reason for compiling this mass of data but to the ordinary layman some of the activities of the bureau seem to be mighty like straining at a gnat.

The papers say that Richard Loeb, who is confined in the Illinois State Prison as Joliet for the murder of Bobby Franks of Chicago, has become mentally deranged, at least temporarily.

Those readers who remember the rather long and extravagant words used by defense psychiatrists in his trial in Chicago to show that he was deranged then, will wonder how crazy he was at the time of the murder if his mental condition has just become apparent now.

Physicians at the prison say Loeb's present condition is the result of an attack of measles. But the attack of measles only came last week while the Franks murder was committed a year ago. As a matter of fact if Loeb is crazed in 1925, it is the first time in his life he has suffered mentally and it came too late to satisfy many people that Loeb and his companion, Nathan Leopold, should not have died on the gallows as perfectly normal human beings, who committed an atrocious crime in cold blood.

INVESTING IN SCHOLARSHIP

EACH year the state of Ohio makes a special investment of about $10,000 in exceptional scholarship. This sum is expended on a small, hand-picked group of promising, advanced students. It is awarded in the form of scholarships and fellowships available at the Ohio State university.

The scholarships, of which for next year there are 21, are awarded as a rule to students who have completed only their undergraduate work. These scholarships pay $300 and the remission of most of the usual fees to their holders. The fellowships go to the more advanced students, and carry a stipend of $500 and exemption from most fees. This limited number of fellowships and scholarships is granted annually for advanced study in fields of the recipients own selection. The only requirement is that the holders devote their entire time to study for the ensuing year.

It is not so many years since the number of college students pursuing their studies beyond the allotted four years was relatively small. But each year sees an increasing number of graduates reaching a decision to make still greater preparations for a life of usefulness. That condition is true of Ohio as well as of other states.

It is significant that graduates of some two dozen colleges and universities in all parts of the country are recipients of the 1925-1926 Ohio State scholarships and fellowships. Taken by and large, there are few things from which the state of Ohio gets as far-reaching returns or as satisfactory dividends as from this annual expenditure of $10,000. The investment is a credit to the state, as well as an honor to those in whom it is invested, in the hope of a more fruitful citizenship.

JUST FOLKS

Edgar A. Guest

PRIDE
There are two kinds of pride, and one is fair
And one is bitter, cruel and kind;
Pride as a virtue purifies the mind
And keeps but what is clean and gentle there,
Sets up strong guards against temptation's snare,
Cherishes friendships, puts all shame behind
And with each day new splendors hopes to find,
And for all men a smile is glad to lend.

Pride as a vice goes forth with smirks and sneers,
Makes jest of honest effort and displays
No thought for others, for their hopes or fears
But strews with hurt what should be friendly ways.
God grant that I may come unto that pride
Which keeps my neighbor happy at my side.

A big entry has been secured for the matinee races this week and a fine meet is assured. The races will take place Thursday. Fred McClain of the Upper Bellbrook Pike had about seventy-five young chickens stolen from his roost a few days ago. Dr. Reed Madden has added another interesting gun, a relic of the revolutionary war, to his valuable collection of old fire-arms. Among the new Ohio corporations recently is The Ducan New Process Oil Refining Company, of Spring Valley, incorporated with a capital of $50,000.

To my mind there is only one way to can tomatoes—and that is whole. This is the one and only vegetable which may be put up in the following easy manner:

Select firm, ripe tomatoes and lower them into boiling water in a cheese-cloth bag, for from one to two minutes; then plunge the bag into cold water for an instant to loosen the skins. Rub the skins off with your fingers, and also remove the tomato cores by means of a sharp, slender-bladed knife.

Pack these whole, skinned tomatoes into hot jars sterilized as follows: lay clean, empty glass jars, on their sides in a pan of cold water (the water covering them). Also place the jar-caps in the pan. Heat the water to the boiling point and let continue to boil around jars and covers for 15 minutes, then drain the glass-ware and keep it hot by means of wrapping in towels wrung out of hot water till you are ready to fill the jar with the tomatoes.

After packing the tomatoes, add one teaspoon of salt to each quart-size jar and fill the jar with boiling water to within one-fourth inch of top. Put on new rubbers which you have dipped quickly in and out of boiling water, adjust glass cover, and put top wire up and also press down side wire. This completely seals the jar. But tomatoes contain so much acid that they present a different case.

The next step is to stand the filled and completely sealed jars on a wooden or wire rack in the bottom

Today's Talks

A PIONEER AND BUILDER

In the year 1856 a boy at the age of 14 walked into the office of the Weekly Sentinel at Rome, New York, and applied for a job. They put him on as an apprentice or printer's devil.

His salary was to be $50 a year. I talked with this man the other day now nearing his 75th birthday, and he told me that he still had $25 of that salary coming to him! But I guess he isn't worrying about it for he soon owned the paper himself, which he changed from a weekly to a daily, and with his son and grandson now continues to run it.

So that three Kessingers now control and conduct The Rome Sentinel at Rome, New York.

I was out touring and just happened in to pay a friendly call. And I met the grandfather, the son and the grandson. It was an inspiring visit for here was a newspaper that had served a beautiful city and community for almost a century and here were people enthusiastic ever making that paper a better servant than ever.

It brought to my mind how little the average reader of a newspaper thinks of all that a newspaper organization goes through that it may serve the community in which it is published. In this case here was a man who had worked long and late, sacrificed and given his very soul to his paper, and then passed this fine property on to others of his blood.

Mr. Augustus C. Kessinger, the pioneer in this case, deserves to be honored as one of the fine builders of a state.

No more important institution exists today than the daily newspaper. Its power and influence is greater than ever. It has had more to do with progress than anything else in civilization. It wields greater power than all other institutions combined.

MICHAEL'S MARRIAGE

By MICHAEL

CHAPTER LXXI

"Why did you smile when Aunt Mary dragged in Mr. Lugh and that Marshall woman?" Lilah persisted when they were alone in their bedroom.

Michael silently regarded himself in a mirror and decided he would have to shave in the morning, darn it.

"Well, I know why," Lilah said. "It's because you're going to get to see HER again." She sat down, nervous with anger.

"Now, dear! I don't care if I ever see her again! I smiled because at the very moment we were hoping to be delivered from the handsome Mr. Lugh and the designing Miss Marshall, we were tossed into their arms, so to speak."

She slowly crept up to his side. "Dearest, let's not go." He shrugged. "Anything you say, my dear; but I think it's foolish of us to allow ourselves to be annoyed by such an inconsequential thing. I'll promise not to pay any attention to Miss Marshall if we go—and I'll try not to be jealous if Mr. Lugh continues his attentions to you."

Her hand shot up and slapped him, but not in anger. "Hush up about him. He isn't one—no millionth as darling as you are!"

Their lips met and for half an hour they were in each other's arms. It was Michael who broke the spell, yawning: "We'd better be turning in. We need the sleep."

Lilah was annoyed. She got the idea that he was bored. Already he was becoming a husband! He was tired of her kisses. The half hour had been as one precious moment to her.

"Michael, please don't be so cold."

"Cold. What do you mean?" His arms enveloped her.

"You used to kiss me lots, but now you only peck at my lips, and you're done. You don't love me any more."

Her mood was incomprehensible to Michael. He pictured himself as a particularly loving husband. Did she expect him to be in her arms continually?

"Why—" He put his lips to hers, and held them there a long time, but it was not a kiss of love, but a kiss of duty. Lilah sensed it. She broke away.

"I don't want you to kiss me just because you think you HAVE to," she left him and fled into the dressing-room.

He stood staring after her. The idea had been growing on him for some days that Lilah had changed completely since their marriage. She was a stranger to him now, he felt. He just couldn't understand this complaint of hers about not loving her enough.

He thought about his marriage as he stood in the bathroom in his pajamas and dressing-gown, brushing his teeth. Was he disappointed? He didn't know.

The question plagued him as he lay in bed, waiting for sleep. He didn't know.

"Michael, what do you suppose is in the chest? I'll bet you know, and just didn't want to tell me before Aunt Mary. Tell me."

"Really, dear, I don't know. I didn't know that it existed until the will was read."

"Oh, I'm so excited about it! I can hardly wait to get home and open it."

So she was thinking of the chest, and not of his coldness, he reflected. "Had she forgotten so soon?"

"You'd better not build too many air castles on the strength of what's in it," he responded. "It may be only a book of advice to brides, as the clever young man suggested tonight."

"I don't think so," she said.
